Introduction

ARDSI Pune Chapter is pleased to announce the XVIth National Conference of Alzheimer's and Related Disorders Society of India with the Theme: Alzheimer's & Dementia Related Diseases- Emerging Challenges in India "Join Us to Act Locally and Globally" on 26th & 27th of November 2011 at Yashwantrao Chavan Academy of Development Administration (YASHADA) Rajbhavan Complex, Baner Road, Pune- 411 007.

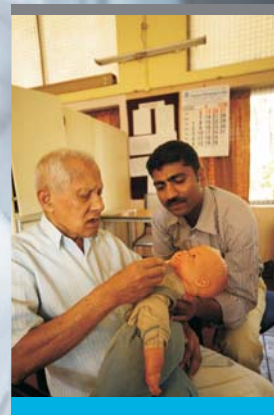

Alzheimer's Disease International (ADI) is the umbrella organization of National Alzheimer's Associations throughout the world, whose main purpose is to improve the quality of life of people with dementia and their care givers and particularly to raise awareness about the disease. ARDSI is the first Afro-Asian National Alzheimer's Organization to receive full membership in ADI.

ARDSI, the pioneer organization in the field of Alzheimer's and dementia in India was established in the year 1992. ARDSI has now grown to an active national organization dedicated for the care, support and research of dementia in the country. ARDSI Pune Chapter started functioning this year under the aegis of Chaitanya Mental Health Care Centre and International Longevity Centre India, two established organizations working in the field of Mental Health as well as Dementia.

Chaitanya was started in Pune in the year 1999 as a charitable Trust registered under the Bombay Public Trusts Act 1950 to offer comprehensive treatment and community based psychosocial rehabilitation for those suffering from various mental disorders. As a result of committed efforts and significant contributions, today Chaitanya has emerged as one of the leading psychosocial rehabilitation centers in India having three branches in Maharashtra and one each in Goa and Kerala providing residential care for more than 400 patients.

The International Longevity Centre-India (ILC-I) is a not-for-profit company founded by Dr. S. D. Gokhale, the social scientist of international repute, working for population ageing in the fields of Research, Training, Policy, Advocacy and Documentation since 2003.

ILC-I is a member of the Global Alliance of Longevity Centres which has twelve members besides India

Invitation

We are delighted to host the XVIth National conference of ARDSI in the year of inception of the Chapter in Pune.

The national conference is being organized to create the forum to exchange the latest experiences, developments, advances and challenges in dealing with the alarming increase in the number of Dementia worldwide and to explore the networking possibilities to achieve global understanding and alliances in combating the issue.

ARDSI National conferences have been a great platform for people from different disciplines to get together, share their experience and listen to the latest developments in the field. The XVIth National Conference of ARDSI will comprise of keynote addresses, invited talks, and contributed papers as well as exhibits from organizations working in the field.

We invite you to Pune- the Oxford of the East to participate in this conference and give a new momentum to the massive and ongoing efforts put in to deal with the issues related to Alzheimer's and Dementia related disorders.

Pune

Pune is one of the historical cities of India with a glorious past, an innovative present and a promising future. The Pune Municipal Corporation administers the city. Its boundaries extend over four hundred square kilometres and it has a population of close to four million. Thus, Pune city has been developed into a Pune metropolitan area, just equal in area to that of Greater Mumbai. It is located 192 km (by rail) and 160 km (by road) from Mumbai and is 559 meters above the mean sea level. Being surrounded by beautiful hills and the Sinhagad fort, it has a temperate climate. Water, which is plentiful, is supplied to the city from Panshet, Khadakvasla and Varasgaon dams - all located about thirty kilometers from Pune.

Pune is among the greenest urban areas in the country with more than 40 per cent of its area under green cover. This sprawling metropolis conjures up a myriad images - ancient forts, ornate palaces, lush gardens, shopping arcades, educational institutions and rolling hills.

Weather of Pune during the Conference period:

It is winter in Pune that is characterized by medium level of humidity and warm cool weather. During winters minimum temperature can go below 10°C. Most of the tourists prefer this period.

Venue

YASHADA-Yashwantrao Chavan Academy of Development Administration.

The Academy's campus which is situated adjacent to Raj Bhavan Complex on Baner Road is located at the distance of 800 meters from the Pune University Gate. It is easily accessible by road from Shivaji Nagar and Pune Railway Stations, which are at a distance of 4 and 7 kms respectively from the campus. Pune airport is located at the distance of 14 kms.

The campus has been designed and equipped to provide appropriate infrastructure and facilities required for the smooth functioning of the conferences and summits.

Accommodation

List of hotels and institutions providing reasonably priced accommodation close to the venue will be published in the website or in the 2nd Announcement of the conference. Organizing accommodation and travel will be the sole responsibility of the delegates. For assistance contact the Conference secretariat.
